RIP Redman â€¦ Morgan was always just â€œRedmanâ€ to me. Iâ€™ll always remember him playing that 1957 Gibson ES-335 guitar, which he was kind enough to let me play at his practice room in the Baker Building. Iâ€™ll remember all he did for so long to support and promote local bands and music. He did it in many ways - through his bands and playing as many live gigs as he could book, and his work as a radio DJ and featuring music by local bands in his shows. The Baker Building in Elyria was his domain, where his ground level room was the largest in the building, had its own entrance, and was perfect for moving PA equipment in and out ofâ€¦ Nuclear Party Band (Frogzilla) - Redman concocted a zany plan for his band NPB to start playing just after the Grateful Dead show let out, and it worked! Suddenly a giant crowd of people walking out of the concert formed and started grooving to the psychedelic sounds of NPB! â€¦ the Megaparty II â€¦ Now Productions â€¦ Iâ€™ll always remember him with reverence. RIP Redman
