My condolences to you. I pray you can find comfort in the precious memories as time passes. May you also find solace in God's promise to wipe the tears away and end death, mourning, and pain forever (Isaiah25:8). Hold on to the hope of one day reuniting with your dear loved one when many who have died will be brought back to life during a resurrection (John5:28,29). This hope gives me peace of mind when coping and I hope it helps you also. I send my love to you.
