Rob, It was always a joy to see you, my cousin. Sifting through comic books when we were children, I remember your very prized ones that Al had gotten you from Germany. Your sense of humor was one of the greatest that I've had the pleasure of witnessing. I really enjoyed the laughs when we had the chance to talk. I wish we had talked and visited more as we became adults, day to day lives can too easily make one put off the moments that a family should have more often. You were a good man Rob and I will miss you.
